TASTING NOTE

Deep cherry color, very complex and varietal on the nose, with clear and deep nuances such as black fruit and jams and notes from the barrel: spices, toast, cocoa and licorice. The palate is powerful but silky and long with a sweet point and a pleasant acidity. It is a wine that combines the know-how of winemakers Susana Ruberte and Ana Salvador with the fine commercial style provided by the experience of the La General de Vinos staff.

WINERY

La General de Vinos & Bodegas Ruberte make this Grenache wine from their own vineyards in Magallon. Vineyards over 20 years old with low yields. In the winery, the vinification is taken care of from the beginning, following the tradition of the Ruberte family: table selection, light pressing, very controlled fermentations and aging with medium toasted French oak and barrels from the third year onwards with little contribution of nuances.
